between sessions of the club owners represented in the organization of which he is the official head, that he is willing to forego the giory and sai-ary attached to his position to save himself worry. In the hotei corridors it was said that Mr. Pullian ordered Barney Dreyfuss and Charles Ebbetts, owners respectively of the Pittsburg and the Brooklyn National teams, to leave his office in New York, and while the demand was complied with, it is said that both Dreyfuss and Ebet and said:

"We refuse to quit at the end of this will have to quit at the end of this part of the days when the trademark was the gumshoe. I can't afford to quit will have to quit at the end of this will have to quit at the end of this power."

While the whole banquet room was thrown into a state of panic by the remarks, President Johnson of the and said:

"We refuse to believe that there are while the demand was complied with, it is said that both Dreyfuss and Ebbetts determined to retaliate against the head of the National league. In substance, the National league president declared that he was tired of warfare and after leaving for Cal-ifornia next Monday he would not be surprised to hear that he had been deposed by those in the league whom he claims are antagonistic to his ad-ministration of chief executive.

No More Fines by Umpires. In the National league session it was decided to amend rule 64, so that the umpires will not have the power to one players or men on the coaching lines. In future, violations of the rules f the national game may be punished ally by the ordering of the offender o the clubhouse, but he may not take position either in the grand stand or bleachers. Another innovation was the adoption of a rule to the enout that carding ground rules in case the visting team enters a protest against ex-sting conditions. Shifting Pitchers Stopped.

After considerable discussion the committee decided to stop the practice of certain managers in shifting pitchers during the course of games in order to give their teams an advantage when the batters on the opposing teams were showing too great strength at the plate. When one pitcher is taken out his successor must remain in the box until he has retired at least one man. The scoring rules were smended at the susgestion of a committee of sporting writers, and it was decided that the umpires in the minor leagues might use their own judgment in the matter of imposing fines.

tion as approaching a famine appetite for investment. This condition is per-ceptible in the manner of flotation of new issues more than in the open market for existing Issues. The expected Chicago, Burlington & Quincy offering, which appeared over night, proved to be $15,000,000, against previous estimates of probably $20,000,000 or upwards, and the offering was closed as soon as opened, previous as closed as goon as opened, previous and pulcations having been larger than the plications having been larger than the total issue. As the allotment price of 39 1-2 compared with a price above par for bonds previously issued under the same mortgage, the prompt rise in the price of the new issue to a premium over the issue price was not surprising. It became known also that the New York Central had disposed of a block of $4,000,000 of its refunding 3 1-2 per cent bonds, previously authorized, without public announcement or offering. These evidences of un-or offering. These evidences of un-sated investment demands for bond proved ineffectual in etimulating an dealings in stocks. The halt in the trade revival appears to nullify the affect of the abundant money market esources in that department of the ecurities market. The contents of he annual report of the Pressed Steel

PROF, MOSEY KING

HAS QUIT THE RING. Former New Londoner Will Take No. More Professional Ring Matches.

Mosey King, who runs the eparring department up at Tale, says that he expects that he is through with professional engagements in the squared circle and that he expects to give his attention and interests in the future to developing boxers who spar for the love of sparring and for general exercise.

No boxing instructor at Yale has been so popular at Yale, except, of course, the veteran William C. Dole, who was more than a boxing instruc who was more than a boxing instruc-tor, but whose work extended to ad-vice and instruction in every field of athletics and training.

King went to Yale four years ago the Connecticut champion lightweight. He had met such whirlwinds of the ring as Jeff. Doherty and other claimants, but whether he could humble Jeff in his present form is another question.

Jeff is certainly buzzing.

King sidestepped ring engagements after he entered the Yale gymnasium
